If selected, your participation will require the following:

- 1) Commit to both dates, traveling to Chicago from November 19-21, 2013 and to California from May 5-8, 2014. We will carpool to Chicago. If you choose to drive separately, those costs will be your own.
- 2) Secure absence from your school district (please note that we cannot pay for your substitute, so this would require an in-kind donation from your school district of those monies).
- 3) Commit to 20 hours of outside work in data collection and goal implementation actions in DCNTP, working with me and the other representative.
- 4) DCNTP will pay transportation, hotel and meal costs; however, if you require parking at the airport or choose to attend activities beyond the auspices of NTIN (entertainment, a meal outside the venue, and so forth) that those are your responsibility.

II. Questions

Please respond to the following questions. (If word processing, 12 point font, double-space, no more than three pages total. You may also print this and write on paper, sending hard copy.)

1. What is your current involvement in induction and mentoring? What drew you to this work initially, and what are you learning from it?
2. In your work with induction, mentoring, and the DCNTP, what are the most significant insights you have gained regarding your own teaching practice (or other education role)?
3. Our focus this year will be data collection to show DCNTP's impact on district induction programs. Please describe any experience you have had with data collection and/or measuring the impact of a program.
